

Media Interview Questions

STEVEN MUSICK Lover of Jesus | Speaker | Author | CEO | Professor | Producer | Screen Writer | Husband | Father

You mention that your time in Heaven can help us live life on earth. How did you come to write this book?

I was quite literally encouraged to get serious about telling my story in a divine dream.

What is your background?

Spiritually I was raised as an orthodox Episcopalian. I am very familiar with the liturgy and elegance of formal high church expressions. I am now simply a Christ follower embracing many traditions.

What are bubbles of Heaven?

Bubbles of the Kingdom of Heaven are spaces, places, and times where the current reality of this world are temporarily held back to allow the Kingdom of Heaven to reign supreme in unfettered ways. The “bubbles” are a perfect icon because they ignite, expand into the current surroundings, last for a relatively short time and then pop, leaving us in the wonderful afterglows of being in the presence of the Kingdom of Heaven. Each encounter leaves us with a residue which continues to change us. It changes us in deep, resounding ways.

How did you discover your purpose?

Years of thought, study, and prayers. My teaching is designed to help people learn how to live a life of anticipation more quickly than I did, reducing the time to become proficient. I will hasten to say this is not totally and intellectual exercise. It requires more than just head knowledge — it is also about experiential learning by doing. Faith and works.

Why do you think most people struggle in knowing their purpose?

Determining purpose is divinely inspired. We live in a world dominated by a tangible world view. My work effectively bridges both worlds of thought, bringing about personal transformation and development.

In your book, Life After Heaven, you mention experiencing Heaven in six facets. What are those six facets and what does that mean for us?

The Kingdom of Heaven can be experienced (as I have discovered so far) in six different facets. Spiritual, Practical, Vocational, Emotional, Insight, and Time. Each facet seems to have different triggers. I have completed a three hour set of audio teachings encompassing each of the six facets complete with the keys to the look for to anticipate bubbles of the Kingdom of Heaven. Beyond the keys, the rest is about volunteering and having courage to step out into circumstances where the Kingdom of Heaven can then expand and lives can be impacted.

What do you think most people misunderstand about God and Heaven?

Many people have a mis-perception of God and Heaven. We often think of the Kingdom of Heaven as somewhere way distant from us and therefore God is also somehow removed from what we encounter day-to-day. My message is the Kingdom of Heaven is closer than we think and everyone can experience it repeatedly and should.

Why do you think Jesus sent you back to earth?

To be a bridge between the life here and the life in the hereafter.

Did Jesus give you insight to why we suffer so much pain on earth?

No, my time in Heaven was dedicated to why my life was what it was and that Christ made all of it okay.

What will people gain from reading your book?

According to the feedback I have received, many have experienced the Kingdom of Heaven as they read. They have expressed a desire for more resources which we are working to provide electronically and in public forums. This is a learned skill and adopted lifestyle.

How can people learn more about your book?

Read and then interact with our electronic presence at www.stevenmusick.com. We intend to be more public in teaching and presentations which are then put up on our Web presence. We are in the planning stages for doing events here in Denver.
